Food Fest slated

Squid rings and corn-on-the cob roasted in the husks over hot coals are two new food items to be featured at the third annual Virginia Food Festival on Aug. 8, according to festival co-chairman C. S. "Chuck" Saunders, III of Richmond.

The festival will be held at the state fairgrounds and will run from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The squid, or calamari, has received enthusiastic reviews after having been introduced in family restaurant chains as an appetizer. The squid will be cut into rings and lightly breaded and deep fried for attendees at the festival. The rest of the menu to be served at the festival will include barbecued beef, lamb, chicken and pork, roast veal, crab cakes, seafood chowder, dessert egg crepes filled with peaches, apple sauce and juice, peanuts, ice cream, milk and more.

The "Virginia Rail" will also be providing musical entertainment for festival-goers along with the "Bourbon Street Beats", a Dixieland jazz band. A contemporary bluegrass band, the "Virginia Rail" is popular in the Richmond area having performed at a June Jubilee and soon to be featured in the Brookfield Complex Outdoor Concert series, and the Virginia State Fair in September.

Saunders said tickets are still available to the all-you-can-eat affair which promotes Virginia food products and the people who produce them. Tickets are $12.50 each and must be purchased in advance by July 31. No tickets will be sold at the gate.

Children 4 and under will be admitted free. Tickets may be purchased from area agribusiness leaders or by writing to the Virginia Food Festival, P. O. Box 718, Richmond, VA 23206. Payment must be included with each order. Additional information is available by calling (804) 643-3555.

Gabriel moves to county

By FRANCES ABBITT

Beckie and Paul Nix are newcomers to Appomattox. They recently moved here from California to take over the firm of Preston-Hopkinson on August 1, a firm they purchased from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Gregg.

When the Nix family moved to Appomattox they brought two stars with them. One star was the one that Paul received for outstanding work while assigned to the Williams area office of the California Patrol. The other star is Gabriel.

Gabriel is a friendly, white, shaggy dog that does more than roll over on command and shake hands...Gabriel sings. He appeared on the 1983 annual Johnny Carson Tonight Show's Singing Dog Follies.

He received a blue ribbon and trophy as first place winner. He was selected from a field of 500 applicants, 60 auditionists and six finalists.

Shortly after Gabriel's appearance on the Johnny Carson show, he appeared on the PM Magazine show in California. When radio station KHSL in California recently celebrated their 48th birthday, Gabriel was on hand to entertain with his vocal talent.

In September of last year Gabriel was featured in "Dog Fancy", a world wide publication. He was chosen "Mutt of the Month."

Possessing such an appealing face, lovable manner and talent for singing, Gabriel must have special ancestors. However, there is doubt as to his lineage, but Gabriel doesn't mind practicing his singing.

When Gabriel appeared on the Johnny Carson show he had been "practicing his music" for seven years. As a young pup, Gabriel loved shaking hands and rolling over, but when his musical talent was discovered, he gave up those "puppyish" tricks and concentrated on his music.

Gabriel has performed from Oregon to Florida, including a performance in a Baptist Church in Virginia.

It was when Gabriel was last in Virginia that his voice changed a bit. He picked up a slight southern drawl which comes across in some of his songs.

Just how did Gabriel get started on his singing career? It was like this.....

Unlike humans, Gabriel remains unaffected by his "star status". He loves relaxing in the yard of the Nix home.

Gabriel has always had such a beautiful white coat but things have changed a bit since the Nix family moved into their new house.

"Gabriel can't seem to keep out of the red dirt in our yard," said Beckie. "So now he's a vivid orange instead of white."

Paul and Beckie are expecting their first baby soon and who knows, maybe Gabriel will be singing a lullaby soon!

BECKIE AND PAUL NIX are shown with their celebrity canine, Gabriel, a dog renown for his vocal abilities.

Liberty celebration set

Liberty Baptist Church of Appomattox, which is currently celebrating its sesquicentennial will observe the anniversary of the actual date of the church's founding, August 7, 1834, with a special ceremony at Liberty Cemetery at 3:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 7.

During this ceremony a bronze plaque will be dedicated commemorating the church's founding and locating the original site of the first "Liberty Meeting House," which was approximately one-half mile east of the present cemetery.

The third building occupied by the congregation was located at the cemetery site. The second had been located south of the cemetery near the present residence of A.R. Harwood, Jr. The fourth building was built in the village on the same site as the fifth and present edifice.

A brief service will include the actual plaque dedication. Other features of the service will include words from the Rev. J. Wesley Williams, the pastor of the church's mother congregation, Rocks Baptist Church, and descendants of Liberty's first pastor, Thomas A. LeGrand.

The public is cordially invited to attend this ceremony as well as the church's anniversary Sunday observances planned for the following Sunday, Aug. 12. The Tuesday evening service will take the place of the church's usual Wednesday evening prayer service. In case of rain, the cemetery service will be held on Wednesday.

Jerry Burke of Richmond, brother of Richard "Dick" Burke, will be guest speaker at the celebration.

Galilee's history rich here

By FRANCES ABBITT

In the center of a knoll on Route 24 just outside the Town of Appomattox, stands Galilee Baptist Church. Since 1867 the church has been standing as a guiding light amid the hills and valleys that were, at one point in time, battlegrounds. Today monuments mark the area where the struggle between the north and south ended.

It was in 1866 that Fleming Johnson, busy conducting prayer meetings among his neighbors, realized that the community needed a church. He decided to do something about it and called together some of his friends who, he believed, felt the same need. Among them were John Robinson, John Reed, John North, Seston Davidson, York Wright, Charles Henry Diuguid, Absalom Ransom, and Robert Ransom. To them he said, "Let us build a house of worship here in Appomattox." (Quoted from the History of Galilee, 1967).

After many meetings and much prayer later, they located a place on the southside of the Old Stage Road near a spot where the church stands today. The following officers: Pastor, the Rev. Carter Johnson, the son of Fleming Johnson; descons named were Absalom Ransom, Robert Ransom, Lawson Isbell, Minor Patterson, Armstead Jackson, Alexander Bondurant and Charlie Glover; the clerk was Seaton Davidson; treasurer, John Robinson; sexton, Samuel Jones; trustees, John Reed and Charles Henry Diuguid. The group chose the name Galilee Baptist Church.

Francis Cope and his wife Amy, heard of the meetings and religious services being held on their property. They became interested in the group and the plans for an organized church. On June 22, 1866 they contacted some of the brethern of the church, asked them to meet at the courthouse and one and three-quarters of an acre of land was deeded to the church. Upon payment of one dollar the deed was recorded in the clerk's office in 1872.

The following trustees witnessed the transaction: York Wright, John North, John Robinson and William Henry Diuguid. The deed stated that the land was to be "used for a house of worship and for such purposes as the church saw fit."

The first church was nothing like the Galilee Baptist Church of today. It was a brush arbor, a shelter created with brush or tree limbs. There were no traditional benches or pews, members and guests sat on straw.

According to the History of Galilee published in 1967 when the church celebrated its one hundredth anniversary, "friends from far and near attended prayer and worship services regularly."

As time moved on, the membership of the church increased and in the spring of 1887 the first log church for Blacks was built in Appomattox, thus Galilee was known as the Mother Church. The Rev. Carter Johnson, the first pastor, continued as pastor for approximately 20 years.

With the membership continuing to increase, other community members were given the privilege of organizing churches in their given communities. Out of the Mother Church, Galilee, the following churches were organized: Mount Shiloh, Canaan, Promise Land, and Morning Star.

Following the death of the Rev. Johnson at the close of the century, the Rev. Edmond Austin, a native son, was the second pastor of Galilee Baptist Church. He had received his training at Wayland Seminary, Richmond which is now known as Vrginia Union University.

An energetic pastor with an eye for the future, he started a building program and the church successfully completed the first weather-board church. It was while he was pastor that the church joined the Hasadish Association which met with the Galilee Baptist Church for the first time in 1901. Austin's death in 1909 left the church without a pastor.

Many ministers served as interim pastors. One of these men was the Rev. Forman who was invited to conduct the annual revival. According to the History of Galilee, "Forman was instrumental in causing the membership of the church to split. Many of the faithful members of Galilee organized the St. Mary Baptist Church near the village of Appomattox, now known as the First Baptist Church."

In 1910 the Rev. W.E. Lee a native of Buckingham County, and a graduate of Virginia Seminary and College, Lynchburg, was called as pastor. He remained with the church for a period of only two years. He offered his resignation in 1912 to accept the pastorate of High Baptist Church in Roanoke.

The fourth pastor was the Rev. Miller (first name unknown) a native of Staunton who accepted the call as pastor in 1913. Always interested in education, he constantly encouraged the young people of the church to take advantage of all available opportunities to further their education and to better themselves. He resigned after one year to accept a call closer to his home.

The Rev. George McArthur Seminary and College was fifth pastor of Galilee. With his eye on the future, Sullivan quickly saw the need of a new, larger church building. On September 11, 1916 the present church building was dedicated. After the dedication Sullivan resigned to devote full time to his work as professor at the college.

The sixth pastor of Galilee Baptist Church was the Rev. Cunningham (no first name available) of Bedford. He served from 1917 through 1920. Following the death of Cunningham, The Rev. E.T. Browne, a native of Southhampton, became the seventh pastor of the church. During his seven years as pastor, he accomplished much including adding

Father Darkleaf

By CALVIN ROBINSON

Lots of people were in Appomattox over the weekend. Big auction sale and several yard sales helped draw the crowd, as well as the appeal of local stores.

I aimed to attend the auction sale, but never managed to find parking space nearby. Came on by a yard sale and bought a flower vase. Big deal. 'Twas nice to see so many people in town. We never take down the Welcome sign.

General agreement that the gala grand opening of the Olympic Games in Los Angeles offered the best TV entertainment in years. The sheer size of it. An estimated world TV audience of two and a half billion. Wow. I watched through it all and there were moments when tears flowed as the athletes and flags passed. Proud of Old Glory, yes, but also of the overall performance of the top talent from 140 nations. Maybe our times needed an emotional experience to draw us together.

Surely when the best athletic talent of so many nations return home, they will spread a good message about the host nation of the '84 Olympics. And I hope my friend in California mails me a copy of the special Olympic edition of the L. A. Times.

And while all that was going on in California, a girl from Reading, Pa., and a boy from Pittsburgh, Pa., became the king and queen of American Marbles. Won the annual national marbles shootout on the beach at Wildwood, N. J. There were 6,000 in the competition. Never a dull moment.

Brought in first glads from flower garden. Red, 33 inches. Friends say things will grow now if enough sunshine follows recent rains. Spotted a small fig on my veteran plant. And my lone watermelon plant has runners. Lots of crape myrtle and daylilies.

Thanks to Mrs. Schroeder for a gift of newspapers collected on a recent trip from texas to Delaware. You bet I read the papers people bring me. For example: Minnie Pearl was at Hersheypark July 4; The Lamppost Restaurant in West Chester, had chicken cacciatore and salad dinner for $3.90; and The Old Inlet Dive Shop, Dewey Beach, Del., advertises that Dawn and Gene Hastings will take you out to explore sites of old shipwrecks.

From the note pad: Report of a thirty pound catfish brought in from Tidewater. Some 190 Buckingham County 4-Hers were at Holiday Lake 4-H Camp last week. Harold Nash, popular veteran town employee, has lost 32 pounds and plans to lose a few more. And also from the note pad: There are some 68,000 Registered Nurses and Licensed Practical Nurses in Virginia.

And, finally, what is a good sign-off for a newspaper column? How about, "Thanks for reading and seeya around."

Evergreen to observe birthday

The Evergreen Ruritan Club will sponsor a 130th birthday party for the Evergreen community on Saturday, Aug. 11.

The Evergreen community is traced to 1854, when in February of that year the Legs post office was completed. The name was changed in June to Evergreen, in honor of the McDearmon farm from which the property for the post office was taken.

The Ruritan's celebration will get underway at 2 p.m. at the Evergreen Ruritan Center.

Activities will include games such as an ugly Ruritan contest, team horseshoes, and other activities. There will also be fundraising auctions and contests.

The Ruritans will also be selling hot dogs, hamburgers, baked goods and drinks, and Evergreen commemorative plates.

Proceeds from the event will be used to remodel the Evergreen Ruritan Community Center.
